Dear parent/carer,

The Year 11 Mock exams start soon after half-term; the busiest 2 weeks of which are November 11th-22nd.

The GCSE exams are more challenging than ever; the knowledge and understanding required has increased for all subjects. We want our students to feel as well prepared and supported as possible during this period. Good preparation over a period of time can help to alleviate exam related stress.

We expect that students will revise over the half-term break, and in the weeks before and during the mock exams.

Directors of Subject have shared key information to help students maximise their revision time, answering the questions:

- What will the Mock examination involve?
- What can a student do to prepare?
- What can a parent / carer do to help a student to prepare?
- Useful Resources
- Equipment required for exams

On Wednesday, Mr Cullum led an assembly on "how to revise", which explained how students' brains retain information and concrete examples of how to achieve this. The video below explains 6 research based methods for highly effective revision.

We wish you a restful and productive half-term break,

Yours sincerely,
